

Evening Study

The purpose of Evening Study is to create a work area that is free from distractions and helps students learn to make a nightly commitment to studying for one and a half to two hours.

Students in each dorm are assigned five nights of Evening Study (ES), Sunday through Thursday. Evening Study is held in the Library from 6:30 to 8:30 for High School. It is held in the dorm study rooms from 6:30 to 8:00 for Middle School.

Evening Study is run by the proctor, on a rotational basis, who monitors and assists students with their schoolwork. As proctors circulate throughout the Library or Dorm Study rooms, they support students in their studies. During this time, they help the students use their time wisely and assist with any questions or direct students to the correct place to look for useful information.

Additionally, when group work is required, the Library and dorms each have separate closed meeting rooms that allow for collaborative work.
